

Colborne Street United Church

711 Colborne Street – corner of Colborne and Piccadilly - one block south of Oxford Street is hosting a concert by London's Clarinet Choir conducted by Scott MacDonald

Wednesday, September 12, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.

Admission by free-will offering

This 25-member Clarinet Choir will be performing music by Ralph Vaughan Williams, Gustav Holst, Percy Grainger, John Philip Sousa, Camille Saint-Saëns, Glen Miller, César Franck, Henry Mancini, John Lennon and Paul McCartney

Four differing members of the clarinet family will be used, supported by guitar, double-bass, piano and percussion.

Conductor Scott MacDonald, MMus, came to Western's Don Wright Faculty of Music from Nova Scotia to study with Dr. Jana Starling. He is currently a PhD candidate at Western's Faculty of Information and Media Studies. Most of the choir members are involved with music at the Don Wright Faculty of Music in various ways, including the New Horizons Band program hosted by the Faculty.

Come and enjoy a special evening of music.
